Lions Club Ladder In Use By Salem Fire Department

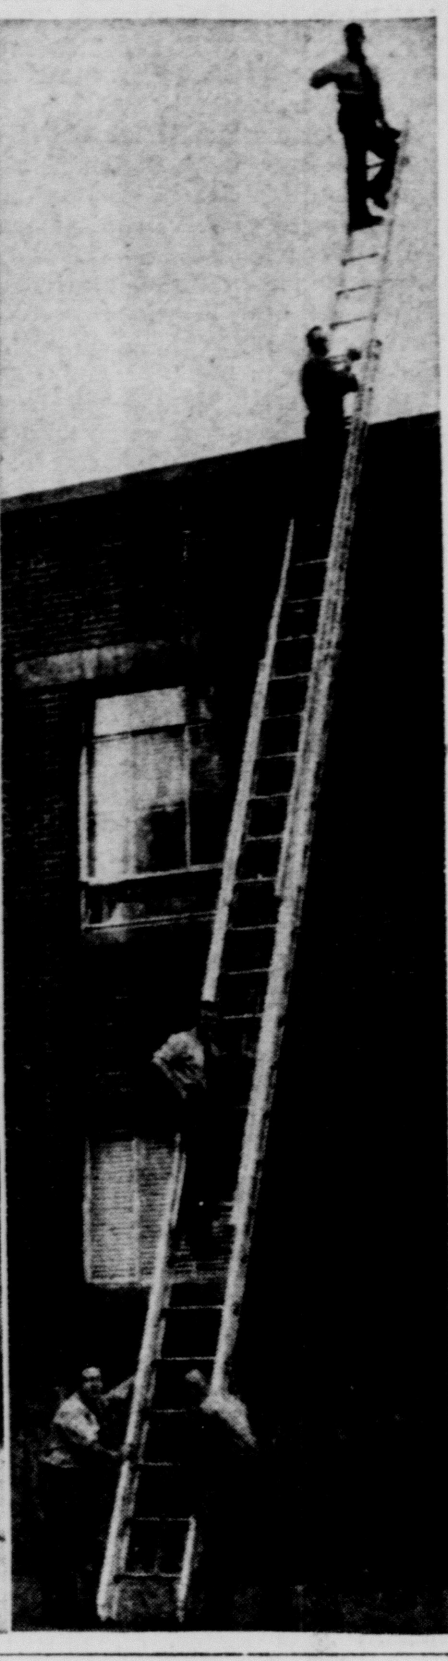

The Salem Lions Club recently purchased a 65-foot tubular aluminum ladder for the city's fire department from money raised in the Lions' Christmas tree selling project and other activities.

The ladder, which weighs 360 pounds and cost $600, will reach the top of any building in Salem, Chief Clarence W. Wright said.

In the photo at bottom, Fire Chief Clarence Wright thanks H. G. Gibson of the Lions Club, who first suggested the ladder gift, and C. V. Williams, Lions president. At right, the ladder is shown extended about 40 feet with Capt. Charles Malloy on top and Firemen Harry Lodge and Norman Smith below him. Steadying the ladder on the ground are Firemen James Morraço and Albert F. Koontz.

The fire ladder will be on public display at Broadway and E. State St. at a date to be announced, Chief Wright said.

Each year the Lions Club uses the money raised from its Christmas tree project for some worthy cause. Last year $800 was given to the swimming pool fund.

Seeks To Force M'Carthy To List Reds With FBI

Senator, Defense Dept. Split On Action On 133 Alleged Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) asked the McCarthy-Army Investigating subcommittee today to order that Sen. McCarthy give the FBI any names he has of suspected Communists or security risks working in defense plants or the federal government.

His motion called also for the same orders to other members and the staff of the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee.

A vote on the motion was deferred because of the absence of Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) and Dirksen R-III. Chairman Mundt R-S, D. said they were attending important Appropriations Committee meetings.

At special issue are the names of 13 alleged Communists McCarthy has contended he knows are working in defense plants, and a running dispute between his side and the Pentagon on the terms under which he would agree to send the names to Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Arrived After Motion

McCarthy, arriving at the hearing room shortly after Symington made his motion, said he had not been in touch with the Defense Department since yesterday about the list of names.

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the McCarthy subcommittee, was on the witness stand waiting to testify when Symington made his motion.

Symington said the stenographic notes of question and answer testimony in the last two days disclose both Cohn and McCarthy have stated that the Defense Department and the FBI already knew the names of the 133.

Symington said it became apparent yesterday that neither McCarthy nor Cohn now is sure of whether the Pentagon has the names. He told the subcommittee "I do not propose to stand by idly for one day or one hour" while the subcommittee has in its files the names of known Communists employed on sensitive jobs, unless the officials in charge are alerted.

Sees Little Difference

McCarthy told newsmen he thought "a phone call or two could dispose" of the question of turning over the names of the workers to defense officials, saying that "there apparently isn't too much difference between us."

McCarthy has complained repeatedly that the McCarthy-Army hearings were preventing him from getting on with the exposure of what he called Communists in private defense plants doing government work. He said yesterday not all of the 133 may be Reds.

Two days ago subcommittee Democrats, joined by the Army's special counsel, Joseph N. Welch, said that if the situation was so serious he should immediately turn over his list of names to the Defense Department.

McCarthy said then he was willing to turn to McCarthy, Page 5

Pfc. Costa Missing After Planes Crash

Marine Pfc. John Costa, 21, of Salem, was reported missing following a collision of two Marine Air Corps planes over the Florida Everglades Thursday afternoon.

Reported killed were: Second Lt. Ray H. Holton, 21, of Alpharetta, Ga., and 2nd Lt. Harry Proodan Jr., 24, Los Angeles.

Pfc. Costa is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Costa of the Depot Road, RD 3, Salem.

In Service Year and a Half

He has been in the service for a year and a half and before joining the Marines worked for the Eljer Company here and the Franklin Furniture Co.

The family has lived here for 10 years, coming from Norwalk. He attended Salem High School.

Pfc. Costa has been stationed at the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Jacksonville, Fla. He previously was stationed at Memphis, Tenn., and Parris Island, S.C.

According to an Associated Press dispatch to The News, one plane exploded after the collision and both fell into the Everglades.

Bodies of two dead airmen were found by searchers who used a swamp buggy to reach the scene.

Searchers reported one body was in the wreckage and the other clear of the debris.

Planes and helicopters continued the search for Pfc. Costa.

Rescued and reported in serious condition with second and third degree burns was Pfc. William G. Collier, 20, South Webster, Ohio. He was picked up from a life raft by helicopter.

Cause of the collision over the Everglades National Park, which occurred at 4:30 (Salem time) was not given.

Another Marine parachuted from his plane and was picked up by a rescue helicopter shortly after the accident.

Job To Be Let Aug. 3, Millville Project July 6

State To Take Bids On Homes Removal In Millville Section

The widening and repaving of Salem's downtown State Street is not expected to get under way until sometime in September.

This was revealed today by Dean R. Sever, Division 11 engineer for the State Highway Department, who said that all plans for the project had been completed and submitted by the Salem city engineer's office.

However, despite the fact that detailed plans and drawings are on file, the highway department will be unable to advertise the project and receive bids from contractors before Aug. 3. That is the official date for awarding the job at the highway department headquarters in Columbus.

Job Will Take 60 Days

Mr. Sever said the State Street project is expected to require 60 days for completion. Thus, traffic may not be able to move over the new, wider concrete thoroughfare until the first part of November.

Before the contractor begins his work, the city of Salem must relocate all utilities to provide for two additional feet of street on each side. These plans are being pushed to completion by the city engineer's office.

The State Street improvement between Lincoln and Ellsworth Avenues is expected to cost between $80,000 and $100,000.

The state will pay a maximum of $80,000 and the city will bear the remaining cost, according to the state and city agreement. This is exclusive of the cost of setting back light poles, parking meters and fire hydrants, which rests with the city.

French Replace Gen. Navarre

Paul Ely Given Top 2 Indochina Posts

PARIS (AP)—France ordered Gen. Paul Ely, armed forces chief of staff, to the double-barreled job of military and political chief in Indochina today. By putting a new man in the combined command, Premier Joseph Laniel's Cabinet sought to bolster the sagging defenses of the revolt-torn country.

Ely, 56, replaces Gen. Henri Navarre as military commander in chief and Maurice Dejean as commissioner general of Indochina. Navarre particularly has been a major target of criticism since the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

Surveyed Battleground

Ely recently returned from a survey mission to the Far Eastern battleground. His report has been made the basis of government plans for all-out defense against new Vietminh hebel threats to the vital Red River delta around Hanoi.

The appointment came shortly after Laniel's shaky regime gave further evidence of its determination to fight on in Indochina. The Cabinet yesterday named Edouard Frederic-Dupont minister for the Associated States of Indochina and raised the post to full Cabinet rank. Frederic-Dupont's predecessor, Marc Jaeger, held the junior ministerial rank of secretary of state.

In combining the top Indochinese military and political commands the government returned to the set-up followed when the late Marshal Jean de Lattre de Tassigny hurled the Communist-led Vietminh back from the delta in 1951.

Hope For Offense

De Lattre had been given both posts after a try at dividing them, to minimize military influence on the developing Viet Nam government, had not proved entirely successful. By again concentrating power in one man's hands, the government obviously hoped Ely would be able to repeat De Lattre's successful offensive.

There was no immediate announcement.

Tirades By Reds Tie Up Geneva

Conference Snarled Over Policing Truce

GENEVA (AP)—Deadlocked Indochina conference delegates got ready today to take a long weekend breather, then go into semi-public session Tuesday after five apparently fruitless secret meetings.

Before the recess there was to be another closed-door session today on the stalemated question of policing the truce proposed for the Far Eastern war.

There was no immediate explanation of the decision to hold a nonrestricted session Tuesday, but it was known Western delegates were fed up with what they labeled propaganda "tirades" by some of the Communists. One Western source said Pham Van Dong, vice premier of the Communist-led Vietminh, was the worst offender.

Attacked French Violently

The informant said Van Dong attacked the French so violently yesterday that France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault reserved the right to reply this afternoon with a lecture on the manners delegates should observe in session.

The idea behind the secret sessions was to sidetrack Communist propaganda speeches and to speed negotiations by sticking to concrete observations on the question before the conference. However, Western delegation sources said the Reds had not changed their tactics.

To Allow Reports

Tuesday's meeting, though not open to press or public, will differ from the secret sessions in that each delegation will be permitted to hold news conferences afterwards and give a full account of the proceedings, including texts of speeches.

The deadlock on the policing of any cease-fire seemed as hopeless as ever.

The Communists gave ground slightly yesterday, agreeing with the West that the proposed neutral nations supervisory commission should deal with all phases of the armistice. Previously the Reds had demanded the commission be composed of all nations.

Check Hazards At Boy Scout Meeting Places

Fire departments of northern Columbiana County communities which have Boy Scout troops are checking hazards at meeting places to insure the safety of the boys.

Dr. Morris Sandrock of Salem, reported at a meeting Thursday of the northern district commissioners at Camp McKinley.

Edwin Schuster, chairman of the camping committee, stated that 75 per cent of the scouting units in the Columbiana County Council are registered for summer camp which starts June 20. A northern district advancement-type camporee will be held June 11 to 13 at the camp, he reported.

Boy Scout membership in the northern district has increased by 100 over last year, Walter Null said. The total is now 837.

Franklin Huber, chairman of the advancement committee, told the group that 81 scout promotions and 147 cub advancements were made since January.

James Pendry of Lisbon discussed tree planting and other conservation work undertaken by Boy Scouts. Reports also were given by institutional representatives Loren Pim of the Salem Friends Church, Albert Kitzman of the Salem First Baptist Church, Phillip Stratford of the PTA of the East Palestine Lady of Lourdes Church, Robert Zaugg of the West Local School PTA and Dan Libby of the Lisbon First Presbyterian Church.

The annual meeting of the Columbiana Council will be held Nov. 4 at Lisbon, it was reported.

Senate Okays Housing Bill

Public Projects Only Dispute Not Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's housing program, fresh from overwhelming victory in the Senate, was ready today for a Senate-House conference in which public housing was the chief point in dispute.

The senators late yesterday shouted approval of the over-all housing legislation providing liberalized government-insured credit for home buyers, a stepped-up slum clearance program and new safeguards aimed at preventing any future abuses in government-aided housing.

By a 66-16 count—the only roll call vote on the complex measure—they also endorsed Eisenhower's controversial request for authority to build 35,000 new public housing units a year over the next four years.

Rejected Public Housing

The House version contains no such provision, public housing having been rejected there by a vote of 211-176.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) of the Senate Banking Committee, announcing a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise bill would start a week from today, predicted in an interview that the joint group would okay at least some public housing and that the House would accept it.

Yesterday's Senate roll call followed an unusual behind-the-scenes maneuver in which Republican and Democratic leaders joined hands so that (A) GOP chiefs could get smashing approval for an administration request and (B) Southern Democrats could go on record without the segregation issue.

It happened this way:

Sen. Maybank of South Carolina, Senior Banking Committee Democrat and long a staunch advocate of public housing, had succeeded in winning committee approval of a 60,000-unit program, much bigger than Eisenhower asked. Then the Supreme Court turned down an appeal from a lower court ruling.

Curfew Proves Effective In County; Salem Has Highest Incidence Of Juvenile Delinquency

The flow of young people into Columbiana County Juvenile Court has dropped off "tremendously" since enforcement of the curfew in most cities and towns, Judge Louis Tobin declared today.

In the past three months, only 12 young law violators have come before the judge as a result of misdemeanors after curfew hours.

All of these children have come from municipalities without curfew ordinances or from areas outside the jurisdiction of a curfew, Judge Tobin said.

Salem, whose City Council failed to adopt the jurist's model ordinance, had the highest incidence of juvenile delinquency during March, April and May. Five youths from this city faced Judge Tobin on varied charges.

Other delinquents in the three-month period came from North Georgetown, Homeworth, Center Township, St. Clair Township and Madison Township.

One East Liverpool youth was warned and lectured by Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey. No youngsters were haled before the judge from Wellsville, Leetonia, Columbiana, East Palestine, Salineville and Lisbon, other communities which have curfews.

Detention room costs have dropped sharply, Judge Tobin said. Last month, only 75 cents, or enough for one meal, was paid out for boarding young violators.

"The curfew," Judge Tobin stated, "halts juvenile troubles before they start, because police herd the youths off the streets where young crimes are cooked up on the spur of the moment."

45 District Youths Already Signed For Soap Box Derby

Forty-five Salem and district boys have already registered for the third annual Soap Box Derby, scheduled July 18 on Damascus Road, Blackburn Hill.

These include 25 from Salem and 7 from Lisbon, 5 from Columbiana, 5 from Palestine and 3 from Wellsville youths. The Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the race with Chevrolet, believe they will easily reach the minimum of 50 boys required for an official race.

Boys who raced last year are urged to register again for the 1954 race as rule changes will require only minor changes in the cars.

More than $500 in prizes has already been collected for the race and the prize list is still growing. In addition, the winner of the Salem derby will represent the city in the National Soap Box Derby in Akron in August where top prizes include five college scholarships.

Boys 11 through 15 are eligible to compete and may register by going to their local Chevrolet dealer, accompanied by a parent, where they will receive an official rule book.

Sponsors are available in Salem for all boys who wish them to help meet the cost of their racers. Information on sponsors can be secured when registering.

East Palestine will hold derby trial runs on July 14. No winners will be chosen and all boys racing there will also race in the Salem derby four days later.

Trial runs for Salem youths are tentatively set for July 11.

94 Lisbon High School Seniors Receive Graduation Diplomas

LISBON — Rev. Eugene C. Beach of the Youngstown First Christian Church told 94 high school graduates Thursday night to "fortify your lives with great friendships and continue to grow spiritually and mentally."

About 1,000 attended the 84th annual commencement in the David Anderson High School auditorium.

Speaking on "Life's Great Adventure," the minister said, "This is a time of great dangers that challenges the best in young people. But don't be afraid to do what you want to in life."

He continued, "More people than ever before have a sense of futility and defeat, but you can overcome these obstacles by developing lasting friendships and striving to improve yourselves in spirit and in mind."

Before you launch your life's work, know what you believe in, what you stand for and what you are living for," he said. "It's not so important how you make your living, as what you are living for."

William B. Ashton, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas and Rev. C. O. Armstrong of the United Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and benediction.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high luster, non-slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Strouss Hirschberg's.

Wounded Solon Called In Trial

Rep. Roberts To Tell
Of Congress Shooting

WASHINGTON (AP)—he doorkeeper who admitted them and a congressman who says he helped capture them were summoned as witnesses today in the trial of the four Puerto Ricans who sprayed pistol shots into the House of Representatives March 1.

The four, self-styled fighters for Puerto Rican independence, sat stonily through the trial's opening yesterday before U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

A jury of seven men and five women, put together in about an hour, watched four government witnesses take the stand. Among these was Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala., one of the five congressmen wounded in the March 1 demonstration.

Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34, who calls herself the ringleader, made one attempt to address the court. But, shushed by her attorneys, she sat down with apologies and kept quiet thereafter.

She and her three younger male colleagues — Rafael Cancel Miranda, Andres Figueroa Cordero and Irving Flores Rodriguez—face possible maximum sentences of 75 years in prison apiece.

Jailed in default of $100,000 bond apiece, they are charged on five counts each of assault with intent to kill and five counts each of assault with a deadly weapon. Pleas of innocent have been entered by the court for them.

Called among today's witnesses was the doorkeeper of House Visitors Gallery II, W. Swen Elgin, and Rep. James Van Zandt (R-Pa.), who reported he rushed up from the House floor to the gallery, from which the shots were fired, in time to aid in the capture.

Also summoned was Frank B. Wise of nearby Takoma Park, Md. He has said he managed to be the first to grab Figueroa and then helped subdue Cancel.

Mrs. Lebron showed no emotion during yesterday's session except once. When Mrs. Catherine Schull, the prosecution's first witness, described her as having "no expression" on March 1, Mrs. Lebron grimaced.

Mrs. Schull told in a low voice how she helped serve lunch to the four island Nationalists as a waitress at the Union Station Coffee Shop. The four had traveled by train from their New York homes.

Roberts testified his chief recollection after he heard the sound of the shooting was a burning sensation in his left leg near the knee. He said arteries and veins were smashed by the bullet's impact and he must wear a brace, hobble about on crutches and navigate the Capitol in an electric runabout.

Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-ND) told the court he heard two volleys of shots, thought it was all over and sat down to light up a cigar.

"I hadn't got it quite lighted up when another firing started," he testified. "I said to myself, 'This is no place to smoke a cigar.'"

Burdick, like Rep. Paul W. Shaefer (R-Mich.), testified there were about 25 shots. They pointed out the four defendants as the persons they saw doing the shooting.

FIVE KILLED, SIX HURT IN TWO-CAR CRASH.—Motorists attempt to put out a fire in a car wrecked near Springfield, Ill. in a two-car crash, one of the numerous accidents which claimed many lives over the long Memorial Day weekend. Eight persons were riding in this car driven by Bert Brodbeck, 35, of Springfield. Brodbeck and four others were killed, including the driver of the other car. Six persons in the two cars were injured.

killed her husband, James, 38, last April 8. Both men were shot at close range while sleeping.

DRIVER'S LICENSE TAKEN

TROY, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas judge yesterday suspended for life the driving rights of an 80-year-old man convicted of second-degree manslaughter. Judge David Porter suspended 60-day term upon Alva Coddington, Porter convicted Coddington in the Feb. 25 traffic death of 7-month-Stephen Huff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Huff of Troy.

CUTS GASOLINE PRICE

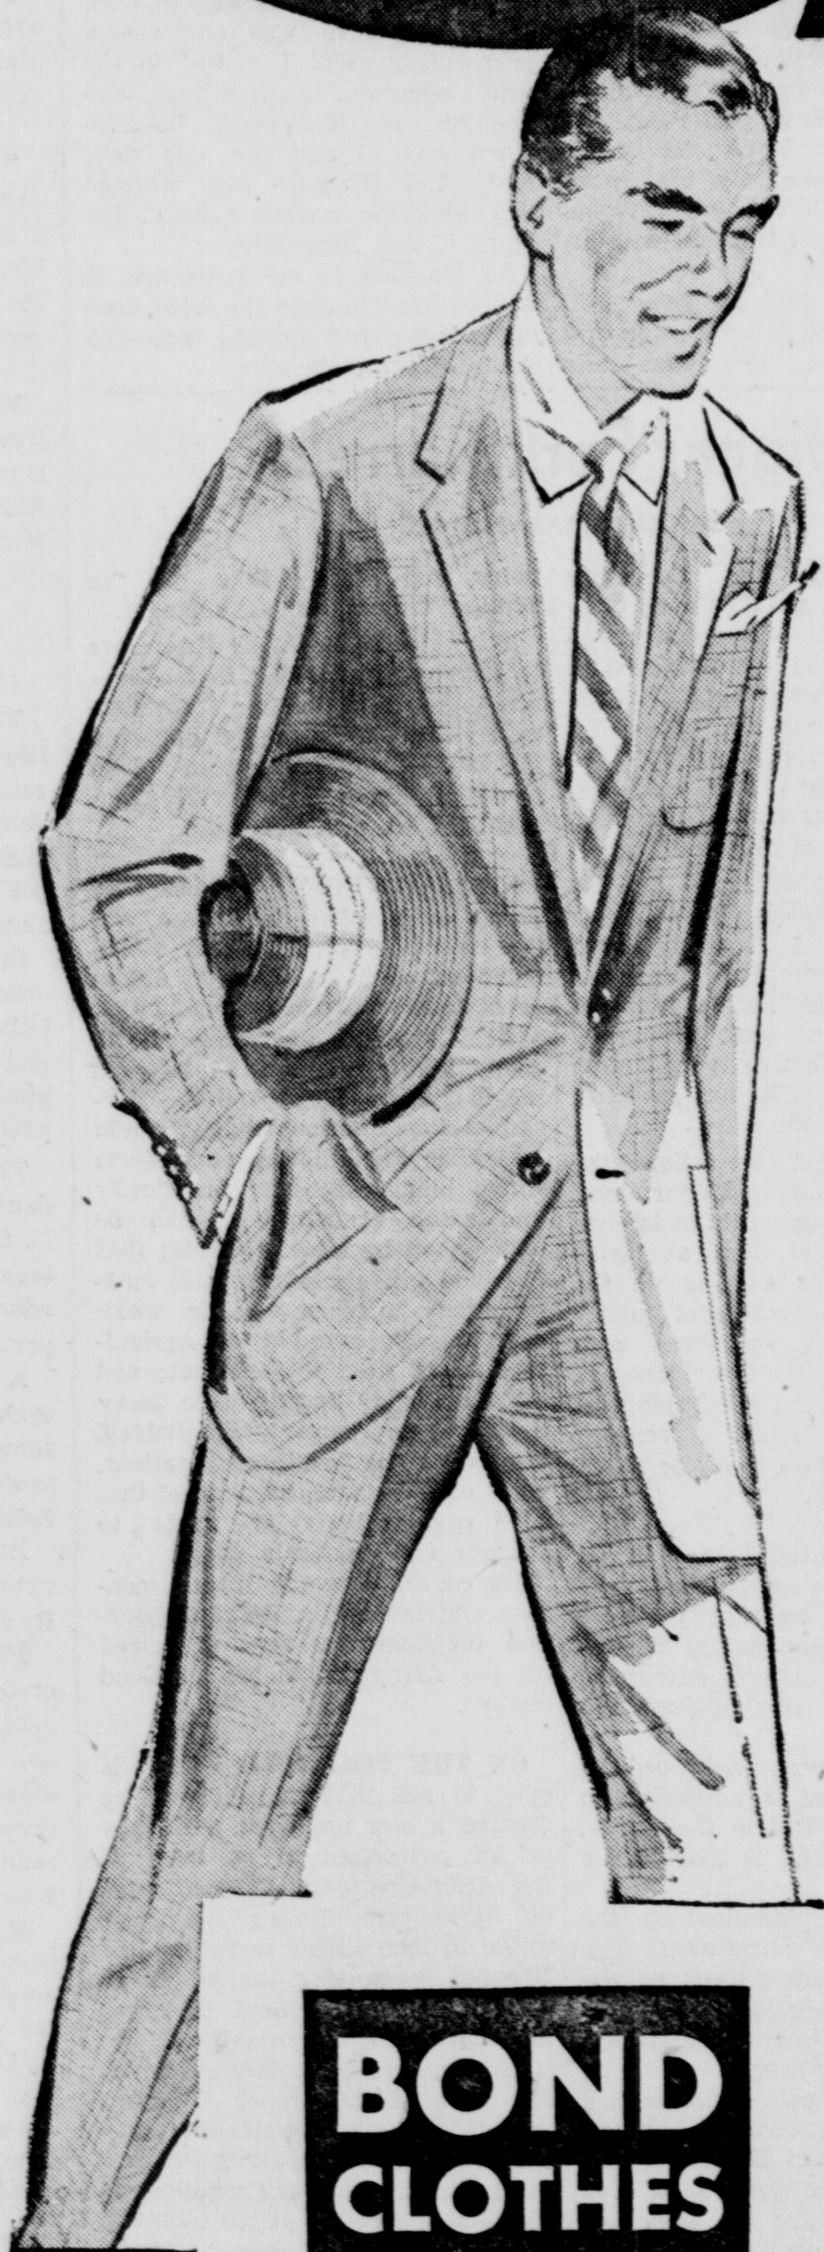

CLEVELAND (AP)—Standard Oil of Ohio today cut retail prices a cent a gallon on its regular and premium grades of gasoline. Missing Footnote On Oppenheimer

The texts of the letters revealing the soul-searching behind the two-to-one recommendation by a three-man board investigating Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's loyalty do not mention what must have caused the deepest searching.

Only in the dissent to the majority recommendation that Dr. Oppenheimer be written off permanently as a bad security risk for the Atomic Energy Commission is there a hint given as to the reason why America's outstanding nuclear physicist may never be allowed to share further atomic research.

To deny him clearance now for what he was cleared for in 1947, when we must know he is less of a security risk now than he was then, reasoned Dr. Ward V. Evans, "seems to be hardly the procedure to be adopted in a free country. . . The fact remains he is being investigated twice for the same thing."

The difference between 1947 and 1954, however, is the bristling fear in every department bureau and commission of the federal government of having to go through the kind of an ordeal by accusation which the State Department has endured, which the Department of the Army is enduring and which Central Intelligence Agency now has been notified it can expect to endure at the hands of congressional investigators.

When the Oppenheimer case was catapulted into the news last April 12, it was generally understood that the strategy was to beat Sen. McCarthy to the punch.

If he AEC accepts the recommendation of its three-man board investigating the Oppenheimer case, it will be suspected of throwing Dr. Oppenheimer into the discard in an attempt to keep Sen. McCarthy off its back.

It is of relatively no importance that all three members of the board agree that Oppenheimer's loyalty is above question. All that matters under the circumstances is the fact he admits to having associated with Communists and having been interested in their ideas many years ago. One can only wonder — under the same circumstances — what might happen to congressmen if other congressmen were interested in investigating what they may have been interested in at some time in the distant past.

Scientific Grave Robbing

Whenever the archeologists carrying on scientific research in the vicinity of the Egyptian pyramids deplore the plundering of ancient tombs, an ordinary observer wonders what they mean.

The plundering they deplore occurred at some unknown time in the past. Perhaps it occurred a thousand years ago. But a few centuries more or less mean little to archeologists.

For example, they now believe they are about to find a tomb that will be at least 4,000 years old. They hope, if they find this one, that it will not have been "plundered." They hope to exercise that privilege themselves.

It is difficult to say when grave robbing becomes scientific research—when plundering the ruins of an ancient civilization turns into scientific discovery. At least a century must elapse, however, and much more than that if the graves are in the plunderers' own country.

In the long run, the only guarantee of eternal sanctity for a burial place is complete obscurity. The pharaohs of Egypt outwitted themselves with the most pretentious grave markers ever erected—the pyramids.

Baby Theory Of Economics

If you keep running across the baby theory of economics and it puzzles you, don't be disturbed. It puzzles everybody.

The baby theory of economics goes like this: There are 11,000 new babies born in the United States every day of the week. There are 365 babies in a year. That accounts for 4,015,000 babies. In Leap Years, there would be 4,026,000 babies.

That is a lot of babies. Each one must be fitted with diapers, socks, bonnets, baby powder, a crib, blanket, shoes and so on. Even allowing for borrowed items, that is a lot of baby equipment. Later on, as the babies keep coming, it takes more housing, groceries, household appliances, furnishings and so on. It takes more schools, hospitals and highways. Thus goes the baby theory of economics.

The more babies the more prosperity, in other words. India, China and Japan would be running over with prosperity, if this were true. Mussolini, who offered a standing reward for babies, would have been on the high road to prosperity for Italy.

Everybody loves babies and wants them to be on the increase. But it takes more than babies to guarantee prosperity. It takes the steady and efficient production of enough wealth to give everybody with normal gumption a chance to live like a human being instead of an animal. This must take care of more than four million new babies each year plus everybody else.

Churchill's Leadership

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Troublous Times Call For Mature Statesmanship

LONDON There is one man in England who symbolizes in his personality the great tradition that has influenced the course of modern history — the alliance of Great Britain and the United States — and he happens to be the prime minister at a time when decisions affecting the peace of the world are in the making.

So an opportunity to chat with Sir Winston Churchill at luncheon afforded this correspondent an intimate observation of the agility of mind of the man about whose retirement from office there is nowadays so much speculation.

The place was the private dining room at 10 Downing Street — the executive office of the prime minister — and the only other person present was the astute Captain Christopher Soames, parliamentary secretary and son-in-law of Sir Winston. The prime minister doesn't give interviews for publication and what was said on such an occasion must remain confidential. But this writer found Sir Winston alert and vigilant as he talked about the problems of the day. His keen mind is filled with the vision of what lies ahead and is poignant in recollection of mistakes of the past on the part of all our countries.

Sir Winston is eminently capable of serving for a long time, though his impatience with the unsettled problems of the world are not the same at 79 as in bygone days. This correspondent recently saw an unpublished letter penned by Winston Churchill on his twenty-fifth birthday, when he was a prisoner of war in a Boer camp in South Africa.

IT WAS WRITTEN in longhand to an American relative and said: "There is so much to be done in the world and so little time to do it."

What a lot of things Winston Churchill has crowded into the more than half century that has elapsed since then! Now some of his countrymen are beginning to ask if the day is at hand when he can lay down the cares of office.

Leadership becomes fragile if a change is in prospect. When people start thinking in terms of a new prime minister, they unconsciously begin to discount the strength of the incumbent and cloak his policies with an ephemeral quality they do not possess.

For Americans, of course, the importance of the continuity of joint policies in international affairs cannot be overestimated. A British prime minister who is half-American by blood is a rare occurrence, and when this is coupled with a breadth of view that comes from so many years of intimate association with the top-level men of the United States government, including President Eisenhower, it seems fantastic to be reading in the press that the two countries allegedly have been at a breaking point in world affairs. There are often differences of approach and viewpoint, but the objectives are the same and the divergences are always reconciled somehow in the common interest, because they must be.

THE PERSONALITY of Sir Winston is bound to make itself felt in the British Cabinet on major policies, though, as always, it must be the energetic and efficient members heading up the big departments of government who bear the burden of daily administration.

Sir Winston has in R. A. Butler, chancellor of the Exchequer, a man as valuable to the prime minister as George Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, is to President Eisenhower, and there is equal confidence here in Butler's management of the economic side of governmental policy.

In foreign affairs, the prime minister has the deepest affection for and commands the loyal and indefatigable service of Anthony Eden. With two such staunch aides, it is small wonder that the Conservatives are hopeful that the prime minister will continue to stay on as long as he feels his health will permit.

Some idea of how important this is can be gained by noting an editorial in "The London Daily Express," owned by the influential Lord Beaverbrook, whose keen understanding of the United States stems from his Canadian birth and early career on the North American continent.

AFTER POINTING OUT that speculation about the retirement of Sir Winston had been renewed because of a chance remark in a public speech, the editorial says: "The hope is that the prime minister will banish the thought, for 'he would be making a grievous mistake in retiring.' It adds:

"Churchill can be certain that the people wish for no other leader. Understandable though it is that he should desire a respite — and richly though he deserves one — yet he should not take it.

"Instead he should be prepared to sacrifice himself for his country in the future as he has done in the past. His countrymen will hope that he will firmly resist the inclination to withdraw himself from public life."

There is every reason why Sir Winston Churchill should carry on, especially in these times. If he can reflect to the world his mood of peace with strength, it may restrain the impetuous and the impulsive among who want everything settled in time for the next edition of the newspapers. There is need for his sobering and mature approach that comes with the wisdom of years. These are troublous times that require a never-ending study of the lessons of human experience.

Progress To Report

By TRUMAN TWILL

Mulling over the business to be finished up before the summer living gets life easy while the screens rust out in the foggy dew of RFD, I got to thinking there should be a last work on the spring's sheep crop — a progress report.

In this, our fourth lambing season, the vital statistic reached an all-time high of 32 new lambs from 25 mothers. This was net. Two lambs were lost by death and accident. Four ewes were childless.

For the last month there has been a theoretical possibility of belated blessed events. But as of now the few potential mothers who have not become actual mothers are being written off as potential mutton chops. In the sheep business, there is no place for spinsters, accidental or otherwise.

The most successful innovation this year in handling the lamb situation was leaving the tails on the boy babies. Other years, all tails were cut off willy-nilly, which meant that when it was time to separate the sexes at butchering time each lamb had to be run down and its sex ascertained the hard way, which is harder than a greenhorn might think in the case of sheep.

A wise lady who happens to be my mother was listening to the description of the hard work this separating led to and suggested mildly that if the tails were left on the males they would serve as identification, besides adding a couple of pounds to the butcher weight, besides making a mighty convenient handle for grappling at close quarters.

It worked out fine. The lambs born the first week in April now are square-rigged huskies. The late comers — born in mid-May — are beginning to assert their independence. The males have tails like ponies.

It is a terrifying sight to see a set of twins bearing down on their anxious mother at feeding time; at least the mothers look terrified. But on the other hand the mothers now are putting wider distances between themselves and their perpetually hungry offspring on the assumption that half of habit is temptation.

Although sheep have ceased to be a novelty at our place, they are never out of sight or out of mind for more than a few hours at a time. Each morning when they leave the barnyard for the pasture, at daylight and each night when they come home to sleep there is the incessant bawling of good anxious mothers and lost lambs. And an inmate of the Twillery rarely looks out the window but what he sees, tastefully framed in multiflora roses, the head of a sheep busily devouring what the catalog said would be a living fence of multiflora rose bushes.

Sometime when there's nothing better to do, we must find out how fast a row of multiflora rose bushes would have to grow to keep abreast of a flock of hungry sheep. For the present the question is academic.

Death of A Beloved Dog

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

What is really important, the great events of the day or the small events of our private lives? A child is born. A child graduates from school. A daughter marries. A son gets his first job. These are the joys of life, and among them there are pains, too. No pain perhaps hurts more than the death of a beloved dog.

I have been watching my dog, Brownie, die of cancer. As in a human, the malady starts unnoticed. Then it is evident that something is wrong. There is the confusion of diagnosis and the deceit that does not deceive. There is hope beyond hope, optimism that does not help, belief that a remedy will be found that is not found. My Brownie did not know how ill she was until mercifully her heart gave out.

THERE IS THIS about a dog: when a dog is ill, she is sorry for her master. She regrets that she cannot wag her tail so enthusiastically when he enters the house. She is mortified that she causes him sorrow when she cannot hold her food or when the choking enlargement of her glands keeps her master awake.

Dogs have a way of conveying ideas without the spoken word. It is like lovers who gaze at each other across a myriad crowd and understand the glance that leaves an eternal memory.

I knew Brownie's mother well. She had come out of Ireland, a mixture of beagle and Irish terrier, who worked the sheep. The mother knew little English, her speech being Gaelic. And so the American troops stationed there called her "Dammitt," which somehow she understood. She went through the war in Belgium, France and Germany and learned when not to bark and what to do mid shot and a shell. Dammitt by some means came into our land in a duffle bag. Her first litter in this country was a product of un-selected love and Brownie was one of it.

Brownie came to us almost immediately after birth to be the companion of small children. But she turned to me for friendship and assurance and during the early years, sat with me as I worked, understanding that real affection does not interrupt or destroy.

DURING THOSE years I would talk to her of the forces and events of these days, of men great and small. As we roamed the city park or country field and woods, ideas came to me in this unanswered conversation and somehow one was a bit ashamed of the mean and small and vindictive, for no such qualities could be in a dog who only lives to love.

Then we got a teletypewriter, which is a noisy thing, and Brownie deserted me for my wife, a calm soul to domesticity inclined. Thus, Brownie lived, quietly, knowing and attending to everybody's business.

When the dinner bell rang, she rounded up the family and courted them to make sure that there were no stragglers. She always entered the dining room last with an air of authority.

I have been told by those who can only pretend to knowledge that animals do not think, that they live by instinct. It is not true. Dogs do think and they do understand many human emotions and if those they love quarrel or are in trouble, a dog will know and will express sympathy.

IT WAS DIFFICULT not only to punish but to castigate our children, because Brownie stood between parent and child, protecting the child and scolding the parent. When one raised his voice, Brownie went to the member of the family criticized and licked a hand or even a shoe.

She knew most of my friends and loved most dearly Ward Bond, the actor whom she only saw rarely on his occasional visits East. One night, I returned home very early in the morning. As I came home and go at unusual times, Brownie never barked at my arrival, but on this occasion as I opened the door, there was one sharp, peremptory yelp. I rushed to my wife's bedroom. She had been telephoning to Hollywood because Ward was ill and she was worried. And Brownie was worried and called me to come quickly. She knew it was important.

So Brownie is no more and it will be hard to open the front door and not see her smiling face—the smile of complete love.

Bigger Pork Barrels

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Some months ago, Secretary Benson found himself in deep difficulties with the soil conservation districts because he proposed a radical reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service. Among other changes proposed in the name of economy and efficiency was a very considerable reduction in the number of regional offices.

Despite complaints, he put his reforms into effect. But having made a gesture in the direction of economy, he now has given his blessing to a legislative proposal which will, if enacted, ultimately cost the nation's taxpayers many, many times what he has saved in his reorganization.

To some extent this follows the pattern of the Interior Department, which, after dropping its insistence on a big federal dam at Hell's Canyon and thus stirring up the clamor of the advocates of public-power-at-any-cost, sponsored by the approval of the President the Upper Colorado and the Frypan projects. These would if enacted cost two and a half times as much as Hell's Canyon.

IT WOULD SEEM that in an election year the administration is so jittery that when a pressure group sets up an outcry it will not only retreat but will give twice as much as it has proposed to deny.

This new proposal approved by Secretary Benson is embodied in Hope bill, H.R. 6788 in the House, and the Aiken bill, S. 2549 in the Senate.

The two were identical at the time they were introduced. The Hope bill has been passed by the House. The Senate bill is now before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Behind this new measure has been a growing conflict between the Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of Agriculture over the proper way and the appropriate agencies to control floods and conserve the soil.

A part of this conflict is the bitter and unresolved dispute as to the relative value of larger dams on the main streams or the larger tributaries and of many small dams and other works on the smaller tributaries far upstream.

The chief of the Army Engineers in February presented to the Senate Committee a letter from Secretary Stevens strongly opposing the Hope-Aiken-Benson plan and in so doing made a powerful argument on his own account.

THE MAIN POINTS made by the Army and other opponents are that the plan proposes the establishment of a new major engineering and construction agency in a field in which operations are already highly competitive between the Engineers Corps and the Bureau of Reclamation; that it would federalize the building of projects which historically and practically and more economically can be undertaken by local interests; that it would make congressional authorizations unnecessary for whatever the Department of Agriculture might want to construct; and that it would literally give away the dams constructed with federal money to the local organizations, with no adequate assurance that such organizations are able to operate and maintain them.

Moreover, it would utterly confuse and involve in great duplication the functions now exercised by the Army Engineers in flood control.

ON THE POLITICAL side it is easy to see that there would be created a new and vast pork barrel of patronage to be used at the discretion of the Department of Agriculture. Imagine what would happen with a secretary like Brannan exercising the power to bypass the requirement of going to Congress for authorizations. Finally, here is another example, like that of the Upper Colorado project, of the administration moving ahead without waiting for any word from the Hoover Commission, whose task force is at the moment engaged in a comprehensive study of the whole problem of water and soil conservation.

There is no record of any earthquake in California ever having destroyed the climate.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

It Won't Be Long Now

This column repeats its prophecy of a photo finish in the Washington hearings, with harsh words for both sides and a denial of senatorial responsibility for a decline in May sales of TV sets. We see the following things definitely established by the testimony:

1. That anybody who makes a phone call in Washington these days might as well be making a public address from a sound truck.
2. That the performance as a whole proves there is no need for price supports for "ham."
3. That Private Schine should get a citation from the New Jersey telephone company for its best winter season in years.
4. That there is a surplus of photographers in this country, all slaves to the curious idea that the same pictures should be snapped of the same people every hour on the hour, regardless of the fact they have not changed in appearance, donned a wig or been named in a divorce scandal.

Established by Both Sides:

1. That the complete transcripts should go NOT to the attorney general but to Goodman Ace, George S. Kauffman or "Red" Skelton.
2. That no senator will find anything to indict anybody, except the spectators who got between them and a TV camera at the moment of a photographic close-up.
3. That the most ridiculous charge was that a private would be held as a hostage by an army which can get Marilyn Monroe, Ava Gardner and other notable pinups for entertainment any time it wishes.
4. That in hiring Joseph Welch as its counsel the U. S. Army must have been conducting Operation Politeness and testing out the idea of making beach landings under the direction of Emily Post.

Things Not Proved by the Army:

1. That a declaration of war from a highly excitable 27-year-old quiz kid in a moment of temper did not and could not possibly panic the U. S. Army into a call for reinforcements and air-covers.
2. That it is mutiny for an inductee to get out of KP duty when it is made easy!
3. That Joe McCarthy is Dracula or Dangerous Dan McGrew.
- Not Proved by McCarthy: That the Pentagon action was a plot to make Secretary Stevens a better attraction on afternoon TV shows than the cooking programs.
- Proved by the TV Cameras:
1. That there is no meaning whatever to the words "I propose to be brief," "Just one more thing and I am through" or "What we are aiming for here is to expedite."
2. That Joe McCarthy should shave more often.
3. That Arkansas is still casting its votes for Truman.
4. That there are some senators who are so smooth they leave an oil slick.

It is our belief that Chairman Mundt before each telecast should have said, "Any resemblance to any persons living or dead is purely accidental."

"If one thing has been established by President Eisenhower it is that Harry Truman was a great President."—Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. . . Mr. Schlesinger was infuriated by an "I Like Ike" button in his youth and never got over it, we hear.

We never knew that the spreading chestnut tree over the village blacksmith's shop was a horse chestnut, until we found it in John Kieran's new book "An Introduction to Trees." Michael H. Bevans' illustrations are beautiful.

ABC May Get Firestone Show

Concert May Continue At Same Day, Hour

NEW YORK (AP) — There were strong indications today the Voice of Firestone, which bows off NBC Monday after 25½ years, will continue thereafter on ABC on the same day and hour without missing a note.

Officials of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and American Broadcasting Co. said no definite agreement had been reached. But they confirmed that discussions were continuing for ABC to take over the radio and TV musical program that costs around 2½ million dollars a year.

ABC reported it had offered Firestone use of the 3,600-seat Paramount Theater on Times Square as a studio for the program that is broadcast simultaneously on radio and TV.

The National Broadcasting Co. has refused to continue the TV portion of the Voice of Firestone in its present Monday evening spot, and plans to use that time and the preceding half hour for a new Sid Caesar show starting next fall. It was willing to continue the radio portion on its radio network at the same hour.

NBC said the program had suffered a steady and severe drop in TV audience in its present time, opposite Arthur Godfrey on CBS, and that Firestone declined alternate times that had been offered and also turned down sponsorship of part of the new Caesar show.

The program, on which Firestone is authoritatively estimated to have spent 40 million dollars since its inception, began on NBC radio Dec. 3, 1928, and simultaneous telecasts were started over NBC-TV in the fall of 1949.

Under the ABC plan proposed for use of the Paramount, the big movie palace would be closed to the ticket-buying public for five to six hours each Monday for final dress rehearsals and broadcasts of the Voice of Firestone. The broadcasts would be attended by those holding studio tickets, which are issued free of charge to applicants.

ing which banned segregation in a San Francisco public housing project. Maybank interpreted this as a ban on segregation in all public housing. He said he would try to knock out, on the Senate floor, the provision he had sponsored in the committee.

Leaders of both parties, it was reported, then agreed to handle Maybank's motion without a roll call vote. The motion went down by voice, and Maybank himself made no effort to place his colleagues on record. Majority Leader Knowland of California immediately offered Eisenhower's proposal.

Other major provisions in the Senate measure are:

1. Lower down payments and longer repayment periods for home mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

30-Year Repayment
Down payments would drop on an $8,000 new home from the present $650 to $400 and on a $16,000 home from $3,200 to $2,200. Repayment periods would go to 30 years across the board on all new homes.

2. No change in the maximum FHA-insured $2,500 home repair loan program, repayable in three years. Lenders would take 20 per cent of the risk on each of these FHA-insured loans.

3. A program for more effective slum clearance with federal grants to communities to clear blighted areas.

But the Senate refused to take Eisenhower's program for no-down-payment, 40-year FHA-insured mortgages for low-cost homes in slum-cleared areas. It voted to require a 5 per cent down payment with a maximum 30-year term.

4. An increase in the amount of government money available for direct loans to veterans who can't get private credit to buy homes under the GI Bill. The Senate voted to allow a total of 200 millions, double the present authorization.

5. Tight new restrictions on apartment projects built with FHA-insured mortgages so that builders cannot make "windfall" profits, as they allegedly have in the past.

6. A smog-clearance program providing FHA-mortgage insurance to cover new equipment installed by private firms and a five-million-dollar research fund.

Extended Farm Program
7. Extension of the farm housing program and a new section to give farmers a chance to get government-insured mortgages without putting up their whole farm as security for the loan.

8. Continuation of the Federal National Mortgage Assn. as is, and rejection of Eisenhower's request to turn this secondary mortgage market over to private capital by easy stages.

9. A new program of FHA insurance for home-trailer mortgages.

The Senate refused to give the President these things he asked: Flexibility in mortgage interest rates, with rates pegged to the yields of long-term government bonds; flexibility in repayment periods and down payments in the big sales housing program, so that they could be changed to fit economic conditions; equal mortgage terms for old and new houses.

ing to do so, but that it was useless because the department had no power to force dismissals in private plants. The department came back yesterday with a statement saying it has full power and responsibility, and can order the summary removal of any suspect working on secret projects.

Cohn testified that, on the basis of his experience, he doubts that McCarthy said he offered the names on condition that the Defense Department not disclose the identity of the persons until they had a chance "to appear under oath, either before this committee or before some loyalty board."

He said this was in line with the subcommittee's rules.

Later in the day the Defense Department's position was set out in a letter signed by Asst. Secretary, Fred Seaton and delivered to McCarthy.

In brief, it said the department wanted the names McCarthy had but couldn't agree to his secrecy ban because it must be free to act on them in the interest of national security "without consulting you."

Seaton's letter said, furthermore that it may be "the Department of Defense has already begun action regarding some of the individuals."

In indicating he felt the matter could be worked out, McCarthy said he felt the handling of the 133 names, and in fact, the whole hearings on his row with the Army "may result in a workable arrangement that will end such bickering."

McCarthy said that while he has considered these hearings "a complete waste of time," it now looks as though it may result in "a workable arrangement for handling investigations." He added this would make it worthwhile.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), who has replaced McCarthy as chairman of the subcommittee for the duration of the hearings, said in a separate interview they may produce "a blueprint for cooperation" between Congress and the executive branch in fighting graft and subversion.

He said he foresaw as another probable result of the hearings a further easing of White House orders barring congressional investigating committees from access to certain security information.

Mundt said also that he has drafted a bill to set up a new division within the Justice Department, staffed by experts, to evaluate FBI information on federal employees and make recommendations to government agencies.

The measure, he said, would be designed to force decisive action on FBI reports naming government workers as security risks.

All the matters mentioned by Mundt have swirled through the subcommittee's probe of Army charges that McCarthy and Cohn tried by improper pressures to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant.

Also under investigation are the countercharges of McCarthy and Cohn that Stevens and Army counsel John G. Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in an effort to derail a subcommittee probe of Army handling of Communists.

Solar Generator Is Developed

May Eventually Give Energy To Run Home

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Air Force announced today development of a solar generator which when refined could convert sunlight into enough energy to run a home.

The Air Research and Development Command said the new generator evolved through research conducted by Donald C. Reynolds and Lt. Col. Gerard M. Leies at the Wright Air Development Center near Dayton, Ohio.

Last April 25, Bell Telephone Co. unveiled a solar battery which converts sunlight into electricity through silicon transistors. Light striking razor-thin strips of silicon creates a flow of electric current in atoms in the strips.

Both the Bell device and the Air Force generator are capable of storing up the energy taken from the sun.

The Air Force generator uses cadmium sulfide, a yellow powder employed as a pigment in the manufacture of paint.

The powder is processed into crystal form. The Air Force said a "wafer-thin slab" of the crystal, four feet by fifteen feet, would supply enough current to take care of a house.

Col. Leies and Reynolds said previously used substances failed to provide enough current to be practical.

The pilot model supplies a charge of one quarter of a volt and can operate an electric clock.

The slab capable of supplying the power needs of a house could either rest on the roof or be built into it, the ARDC announcement said.

The crystal in the first model is about the size of a sugar cube.

"Attached to opposite sides of the crystal are electrodes, or terminals. A wire running from the positive electrode to a motor or battery and back to the negative electrode forms the circuit. That simple device is the solar generator," the Air Force said.

fined to regulating the import of arms and troops into Indochina.

But both sides still disagreed completely on composition of the commission. (No Communist nations, the West insisted; half the commission Communist, the Reds replied). Two new difficulties arose.

Viet Nam's Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh proposed that the United Nations set up a supervisory commission. Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai flatly rejected U.N. mixing in Indochina, because the international organization would not admit his government to membership.

Chou also announced that his government categorically refuses to separate the problem of a settlement in Viet Nam from arrangements for the other two Indochina states, Laos and Cambodia. Western delegates made it clear that problems of the three Associated States must be handled separately. They contend civil war exists only in Viet Nam, while Laos and Cambodia are victims of Vietnamese invasion.

'Announcement Party' Is Held By Methodist Church W.S.C.S.

The June meeting of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service Wednesday was an "Announcement Party."

As the 80 members gathered in the assembly room of the church, Yellow Ray and Red Ray members served fruit punch and cookies from an attractive lace-covered tea table centered with an arrangement of orchid and cream-colored lilies.

Mrs. Willis Hole, chairman of Red Ray, and Mrs. Floyd Craig, chairman of Yellow Ray, presided at the punch bowl, Mrs. Lester

Salem Girl Scout Directors Hear Reports At Meeting

The "Senior Campership" fund, which is being established to send Carol McQuilkin, Mariner Scout, to an all-states encampment in Cody, Wyo., in August, has reached a total of $134, according to the report at the Thursday morning meeting of the Salem Girl Scout Board of Directors in the scout office.

Mrs. Stanley Starkie presided when the campership fund, which also will enable any senior scouts to make out-of-state trips, was discussed.

Miss McQuilkin is one of four girls from Ohio to have this opportunity, but if enough money isn't raised to permit her to make the trip, another Ohio girl will be selected. The senior scouts in Salem sent 115 letters to individuals and firms requesting participation in this project and June 10 has been set as a deadline for replies. The amount needed is $300.

Mrs. John Litty was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Starkie gave an evaluation of insurance coverage carried by the Salem Council and explained the additional coverage for vandalism and malicious mischief at Camp Merrydale.

According to Mrs. Fordham Benson, the girls were not given service hours for working in and around Camp Merrydale since service hours were given primarily for community service. Troops 6, 9 and 28 participated in recent activities.

Mrs. Ed Zilavy reported that basic training for new leaders has been postponed until Monday. The program chairman, Mrs. Carl Smith, gave her report, including activities to September. Brownie Playday was reported a success, with 188 girls in attendance.

Twenty-five girls from Troops 4, 5 and 19 are in Washington, D.C. on an educational tour. Mrs. Emil Cosma, Mrs. Paul Harrington, Mrs. Glenn Whinnery and Mrs. Everett Hall are accompanying the girls.

The estimated budget for 1954-55, presented by Mrs. Joseph Greenwood, totaled $5,115.

Mrs. Brooke Votaw explained that camp was ready for opening June 12, and she also reported that she had received a letter from Edward Harris thanking the council for the use of Camp Merrydale for the recent speech therapy clinic.

A contract has been made with the Quaker City bus lines for transporting the scouts to and from Camp Merrydale.

Collins' Homer Gives Yankees 2-1 Victory Over Cleveland

Indians Get Eleven Hits

Nine Players Left Stranded On Bases

NEW YORK (AP)—The first-place Cleveland Indians, lacking the long ball in the clutch, grabbed 11 hits off Eddie Lopat but failed to stop his New York Yankees from winning a 2-1 thriller yesterday.

Their first loss in Yankee Stadium left the Indians where they were—one game ahead of the Chicago White Sox and three in front of the Yankees—before the three-game series started Wednesday.

The Indians took the series opener, 8-7, on a 10th inning homer by Al Smith after the Yankees, who registered all their runs in the first inning, failed to hit in the last nine.

But yesterday's bagful of Indian hits produced only one that was good for extra bases—a double by pitcher Bob Lemon. Three of the hits were bunts.

Left stranded on base were nine Indian runners.

Lemon gave up only four hits while losing his second game against seven triumphs. Lopat now has a 6-1 record.

Two last-minute substitutions by Manager Casey Stengel provided the winning margin for the New Yorkers. For reasons known only to himself, he sent in first baseman Joe Collins and outfielder Irv Noren both of whom had been benched in the previous contest.

Collins, who entered the game with a .196 average, lofted his second homer of the season against the facade of the stadium's upper right deck—an eighth-inning feat that won the game.

Noren rapped a single that sent in the first Yankee run, and squelched two Indian rallies late in the game with a pair of circus catches.

One of them came after Rudy Regalado singled in the ninth. George Strickland lined low to left field and Noren dived in, grabbed the ball as his feet left the ground in a headlong dive, somersaulted, and held it.

Another neat ninth-inning defense was credited to Phil Ruto. After a single by Jim Hegan, Dale Mitchell, batting for Lemon, sent a sharp rounder past the mound.

Rizzuto flopped on his belly to clutch the ball and flipped it to Gerry Coleman at second base, forcing Hegan.

Lemon posted the Indians' sole run with a single in the second inning after Strickland and Hegan had bunted.

Noren's single came in the fourth scoring Mickey Mantle, who also had singled. Catcher Yogi Berra produced the Yankees' other hit—an unrewarding single in the first inning.

Racing To Resume At Canfield Saturday

Canfield Speedway resumes its Sportsman Division stock car racing on Saturday night after the postponement of Wednesday's program. Cold and wet weather caused cancellation of the card.

There will be eight races Saturday, co-features the 25-lap Sportsman Division headliner and the 15-lap Hard Top duel.

A feud has developed in the MARC circuit between Mike Little, from Johnstown, Pa., and Nook Walters of Niles. It started last Friday when Little and Walters tangled and Walters came out second best. However, the following Saturday night at Canfield, Little was bumped out of the feature by Walters.

Little was angered, claiming that Walters deliberately crashed him "to get even." "The Friday night incident was an accident, just something that occurs in every race," Walters declared, "however, if Walters wants trouble I'll give him plenty." Except for the presence of race officials, and the penalty of a stiff fine, the pair would have come to blows on the spot last Saturday.

The two will get together in the race Saturday night.

Batting—Jablonski, St. Louis, .379.

JUNIOR HIGH ATHLETES HONORED—Rev. Richard Drake, former professional football star with the New York Giants, was guest speaker at a dinner honoring Salem Junior High School cheerleaders and athletes Wednesday evening at the Elks Home. Above, he is shown addressing the gathering.

The Elks and the Junior High PTA co-sponsored the affair. Superintendent of Schools E. S. Kerr spoke to the boys on "Junior High School Athletic Policies."

High School Faculty Manager Fred Cope served as master of ceremonies, introducing the two main speakers along with guests from the junior and senior high school's athletic departments.

Donald Steltz is Junior High PTA president. Loren Early, Junior High principal, was instrumental in arranging the affair.

Parker's, Butler Grangers, Deming Win Softball Contests

Parker's defeated Old Timers 9-6. Butler Grange beat Bliss 3-2 and Demings rolled over Leetonia 9-1 in the three city softball games played at Kelley Field Thursday night.

Parker's, behind 4 to 6 at the end of the sixth frame, tied the score in the seventh when Ehrhart homered with two out and a man on. Jim Beard then homered in the eighth inning with two on to give Parker's the victory.

John Kozar was the losing pitcher for the Old Timers. Schuster, winning pitcher for Parker's, had 12 strike outs.

Each team got nine hits. Parker's was charged with one error and the Old Timers with seven.

A walk in the seventh inning gave Butler Grangers their 3-2 victory over Bliss.

In that frame, Jackson, the Bliss pitcher, hit Gibson and walked Stewart. A bad throw by Pridon filled the bases and Jackson then walked Shuman, forcing in the winning run.

Butler Grangers had five hits and committed no errors, and Bliss had four hits with one error. Jackson struck out nine batters, and Mercer, the winning hurler, seven.

Dave Ehrhart coasted to an easy victory as Leetonia fell apart in the sixth frame, allowing Deming to score six runs and win the contest by a wide margin.

Besides the big sixth frame, Deming got two runs in the first inning and one in the second. Leetonia got its lone run in the second frame.

Deming had 10 hits and two errors and Leetonia, two hits and seven errors. Ehrhart struck out seven opposing batters.

Paroled Convicts Opens Ball Career

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP)—Billy Joe Moore, paroled this week from the Oklahoma Penitentiary, made his first appearance in professional baseball here last night. It was no ringing success.

Moore, a 24-year-old whose athletic exploits in prison attracted New York Yankee scouts, walked twice, was safe on an error and struck out in four plate trips for Grand Forks of the Class C Northern League against Superior. Superior won, 12-3.

Moore was charged with two errors at first base in 12 chances. A righthanded hitter, he took good cuts at the plate but may have been bothered by understandable jitters.

Moore was paroled after serving a term for burglary in the Oklahoma prison at McAlester. In 129 games over three years with the prison team, he hit 77 home runs and averaged close to .400.

Yankee scouts helped arrange his discharge from the prison and predicted he should be good enough for Class AAA competition next year.

Junior Baseball Tag Day Set

Little Leagues Cost $3,190.58 In 1953

Little League baseball in Salem cost $3,190.58 last year, a league report issued today reveals.

The money is raised through donations, an annual tag day, and assistance by the American Legion, sponsors of Little League ball here.

The 1954 Little League Tag Day is scheduled for Saturday when hundreds of young players will fill the streets collecting money to help finance the recreation this year.

Biggest item of expense last year was uniforms and equipment which cost $1,816.05.

Bulldozer service and sand for the fields cost $370.03 and insurance for all leagues $305.

Other expenses were: Entry fees and materials $45.30; advertising $34; tag day materials $25.59; roller operation on the field, $28.65; calcium $92.32; Wire $18.03; umpiring and scorekeepers $154.75; baseball excursion and picnic $85.40; sign for bus $10.50; bus $175;

First aid kits $17.31; flowers $5.15; projection service $7.50.

Mayor Dean Cranmer has proclaimed Saturday as "Junior Baseball Tag Day" and urges all residents "to get behind the youngsters."

Cars are needed to take the boys out into the various parts of the city in the fund-raising. Fathers or friends of the youngsters are urged to call John Herman at 7717 or come to the Legion Home at 8:45 a.m. Saturday.

Charleston Defeats Kansas City 6-5

Sam Hairston singled the winning run in the seventh inning to give Charleston a 6-5 victory over Kansas City in the only American Association game last night.

Kansas City drove Dick Fowler from the mound in the top of the seventh with two runs to tie the score 5-5. Hairston's safety scored Bob Addis, who had doubled.

Charleston tallied four times in the first inning to rout Wally Burnette. Al Ware's two-run triple was the big blow.

New Field To Be Ready For Youths' Use Soon

The field behind Hope Cemetery is rapidly being readied for Little League baseball and should be open for use within a week, John Herman, league chairman, declares.

Herman says the city has "cooperated with us wonderfully" in scraping and leveling the field.

St. Paul Church has donated the league its backstop that was taken down when work was started on the new St. Paul School. Roy Yeager has given right of way over his property on E. School St. off Eight St. to be used as a road way to the new field.

The road has already been cleared and is ready for use. Herman says the road is still soft in some spots, but hopes some fill will make it adequate.

New York Wallops Cardinals 13-8

White Sox Trip Boston 9-6, Nats Edge Tigers, A's Win

If a hitter in a slump came to the New York Giants today for advice he probably would get pretty confused.

Hank Thompson can recommend highly 10 days of rest.

Willie Mays would prescribe going "all out" for 10 games.

Both ways have worked miracles for the Giants' stars.

Thompson's idleness wasn't by choice — he was sidelined with a banged-up knee — but obviously it did him a world of good. When he got hurt against Pittsburgh May 25 the third baseman was hitting a puny .237 with six home runs and only 11 runs batted in.

Last night in St. Louis he came back to the lineup and smashed home runs into the right field pavilion in his first three times at bat. He was walked purposely the fourth time as the crowd boomed. He singled home a run on his fifth appearance.

He accounted for eight runs and raised his average 25 points to .262. The three homers in succession equaled the modern National League record shared by 16 other players but not duplicated since 1950.

Ten games ago Mays was hitting .260. Now he has a 10-game hitting streak working during which he's collected 23 safeties, 12 of them for extra bases and 8 of them home runs. He hit his 15th and 16th last night as the Giants walloped the Cardinals 13-8. This gave him a tie for the league lead with Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs.

Mays drove in 5 runs to raise his total to 42, of which 22 have come in these last 10 games.

Three other games in the National League were postponed because of rain.

In the American, the Chicago White Sox moved within a game of first-place Cleveland as they beat Boston 9-6 while the Indians were dropping a 2-1 verdict to the New York Yankees. Washington edged Detroit 4-3 and Philadelphia and Baltimore swapped seventh eighth places again as the Athletics beat the Orioles 6-2.

The Red Sox battered Virgil Trucks and Don Johnson, both of whom had beaten them on shutouts earlier this year, for 15 hits but left 13 men on base. The hits included Ted Williams' fifth home run and Harry Agganis' fifth.

Cleveland collected 11 off Eddie Lopat and the Yankees got only four off Bob Lemon. But one of the four was a home run in the eighth inning by Joe Collins that gave the Yanks their first victory at home over Cleveland this season.

All four Washington runs were unearned as Ned Garver gave up seven hits. Two of the three Detroit tallies also were tainted by errors. Maury McDermott was the winner.

Don Larsen, who figured to be one of Baltimore's leading pitchers lost his sixth game against only two victories. Joe DeMaestri homered for Philadelphia, Bob Young for Baltimore, both with the bases empty.

Giants In Cincinnati For Redleg Series

CINCINNATI (AP)—The New York Giants, who have lost the two games they played this season in Crosley Field, invaded the park tonight for the first of a four-game series with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Giants are in third place, one game out of the league lead, while Cincinnati is in sixth, three games back of the New Yorkers.

Rain cancelled yesterday's Philadelphia-Cincinnati encounter and the club rescheduled the tilt as part of a two-night doubleheader July 16. A similar two-nighter had been carded for July 15, so the two teams will play four games in two days.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts selected for tonight Bud Podbielan, with his 3-1 record, to oppose Ruben Gomez, who has won four of seven decisions.

Jim Greengrass will be going into the game with no hits in the last 20 official trips at the plate and Bobby Adams has one for 30. But no radical changes are expected in the Redleg lineup.

Batting—Avila, Cleveland, .383. Runs—Mino, Chicago, 42. Runs batted in—Rosen, Cleveland, 49.

Junior Legion Team To Open Season

The Salem American Legion junior baseball team will open the season Saturday at Centennial Park against East Liverpool.

The game is scheduled for 2:15 p.m. East Liverpool was runner up for the 10th District Legion championship last year.

Salem, East Liverpool, Columbiana and East Palestine will field teams in the county loop this year. The locals will face Columbiana Sunday at Firestone Park.

A. B. Combs and Wendell Church are in charge of the Salem team. The Salem Charles H. Carey Post 56 will also enter another team in the Hot Stove League which will begin action shortly.

John Pete Sanders is in charge of this team.

The co-sponsors for both Legion teams are Firestone Electric Co. and the United Commercial Travelers.

THURSDAY'S STARS
BATTING — Hank Thompson, New York Giants, equalled National League record by hitting three straight home runs in leading Giants to a 13-8 victory over St. Louis.

PITCHING — Ed Lopat, New York Yankees, scattered 11 hits as he scored his sixth victory of the season, a 2-1 decision over Cleveland.

Thompson's 3 Homers in Row Ties Record

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Hank Thompson of the New York Giants was convinced today, after tying a modern National League home run record, that there's no pitcher he'd rather face than Gerald Staley.

Thompson tied the modern league mark for consecutive home runs in a single game by rapping out one in each of his first three times at bat—all off Staley—as the Giants overpowered the St. Louis Cardinals 13-8 last night.

The 28-year-old New York third baseman also singled and, in all, drove across eight runs.

"I kinda like Staley's pitching," Thompson said after the game.

He explained his homers came on three different types of pitches—the first one a curve, the second on a change-up pitch and the third on a fast ball.

Then, grinning, he recalled he hadn't hit a home run since May 18 until he belted his three last night. That May 18 clout was off Staley too. Thompson's home run total is nine.

The Negro infielder missed a chance to equal the major league record of four consecutive home runs in a single game, set by Lou Gehrig, when he was walked intentionally in the seventh on his fourth time up, he pass was ordered with a man on second and none out.

Douglas Leads In Western Golf Open

CINCINNATI (AP)—Even though only one round has been played it begins to look as if it will take a good rain-and-wind man to win the $15,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

Such a person yesterday was Dave Douglas of Grossinger, N.Y., who clipped three strokes off par with a 35-33-68 to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the 1954 tournament.

The high wind whipped over and around the hills of the Kenwood Country Club's 6,766-yard course. The rain came in gusty showers. And the forecasts was for more of the same today.

Despite those unfavorable conditions, 11 players bettered the course' par of 35-36-71. Another half-dozen players equaled par. All of which seemed to be an indication that even lower scores may be in order if the weatherman ever decides to turn off the wind and the rain.

Jackie Burke Jr. of Klamath Lake, N.Y., with a 69, tied with Pete Fleming of St. Andrews, Ill., and Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., as runner-ups to Douglas.

Many a national reputation, and even the hopes of a political leader for another try at the presidency of the U.S., may soon be made or buried below the sidewalks of New York.

There is a bitter showdown coming between national CIO and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey — and before this finish fight is over, the governor may smash precedent and send in the State Militia to run

New York City's subways — the world's most vast and intricate underground railroad.

Out front the fight is between Mike Quill's CIO Transport Workers Union and the New York City Transit Authority, which runs the subway and bus lines.

Behind the scenes, the battle is shaping up between national CIO and the state because in Detroit last weekend Walter Reuther personally assured Mike Quill that all of CIO's forces would be thrown behind him.

THIS BATTLE began brewing last year when Quill demanded a wage increase and improvement

"package" of some 50 million dollars annually for 40,000 transit workers. Then Quill yelled "strike." There were the usual radio and television jousts — and most of us grinned as Mike thundered.

Mike always yells strike. Everybody goes through the motions and everybody knows the subways will run, maybe a little slowly, but only for a day. Then the anniversary waltzing is over until the contract comes up again.

But this time, after some six months of waltzing and the recommendations of a slow motion fact-finding board, the crisis came.

The Transit Authority, which is autonomous, in effect told Quill and the fact-finders to jump in the East River. The Authority just wasn't dealing with Quill or his union any longer. There would not be another contract or a "memorandum of understanding." The Authority would grant certain increases it determined for itself without consulting the CIO's Transport Workers' Union.

This made it a death struggle with Quill. It also set a national precedent which the national labor leaders began to watch. The Transit Authority, in effect, gave the transit workers a little more money than the fact-finding board had proposed for the next nine months. But by by-passing Mike Quill, the Authority was taking his union away from him.

IF THE EBULLIENT Quill, who loves phrases like "We'll battle it out in the tunnels of New York," can't bargain for 40,000 workers, they might leave him. If they do, they deprive him of about 50 per cent of his national membership. This could kill his New York strength.

Mike Quill, who so many times before has cried wolf, now finds him at the door. This time Mike means it. He positively plans to attempt to tie up the transportation lines of the world's biggest city — lines which carry millions of workers into the financial and industrial heart of the nation.

He'll strike the subways and transit lines regardless of state laws restricting such stoppages. He'll strike unless the State Supreme Court hands down an injunction forbidding him to call the paralyzing walkout. Then there'll be some legal battling. But if the injunction kills the strike call — there'll be tough days underground.

The Transport Workers Union will tell its people to run the lines "by the book." This means obeying ancient regulations to the letter. Trains will creep. They will be unmanned and unserved as hundreds, even thousands, of transit workers report in "sick."

THERE WILL BE an emergency all right — 5,000,000 travelers use those lines every day. There's high power voltage just a few feet from sardine-packed platforms.

It is the thoroughly sober and carefully considered opinion of those who have been in on this situation from the very first day that Gov. Dewey, whose office has the power and responsibility to handle such emergencies in the cities, will send in the militia.

There is no doubt that Walter Reuther will swing in behind Quill with all that national CIO has. Quill is a national CIO vice-president. The Transport Workers' Union is important to CIO and is to be the base for a merger of all CIO transportation workers including thousands of the country's railroads.

There seems no likelihood that Reuther and Quill will back down. There seems even less chance that the Transit Authority — two members of which were appointed by Gov. Dewey — will back down. The deadline for action is June 14. Whoever caves in loses national prestige and power in his field.

Metropolitan Turns Down Composer's Bequest

NEW YORK (AP)—The financially hard-pressed Metropolitan Opera has turned down a $100,000 bequest from an amateur composer on grounds that its "artistic integrity" is not for sale.

The money was willed to the Met by McNair Ilgenfritz, wealthy Philadelphia real estate man who died in April, 1953, on condition it produce one of two operas he wrote—"Phedre" and "Le Pas-sant."

The Met announced yesterday that its musical staff examined copies of Ilgenfritz' scores and found them not up to Met standards.

Despite the annual operating deficit of $400,000, directors decided that "under the circumstances and as a matter of policy, the bequest should not be accepted."

Jersey GOP May Use Police To Force Democrats To Vote

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Republican leaders in the New Jersey Assembly today considered use of state police troopers to force Democratic participation in a vote on extra school aid.

The situation confronting the GOP leadership is unprecedented in New Jersey history.

The 20 Democratic members of the Assembly refused to attend yesterday's session of the Legislature, waging a sit-down strike in Gov. Robert B. Meyner's office.

The Republican majority sent the Democrats an ultimatum to attend the Assembly session within 15 minutes, and, when it was ignored, adjourned until Monday without taking any action on five controversial bills to raise and contribute $28.5 million dollars in additional aid to public schools.

Meyner, the state's first Democratic governor in 10 years, has said he goes along with the tax hikes in the bills. But he says the bills should become effective July 1, 1955 rather than this July as provided in the GOP measure. The Democrats say they want to be consulted before participating in a vote.

The governor called the conference of the minority party in his office in an effort to secure its opposition to the bills that would raise the school aid funds this year. Before the Assembly session, Republicans felt they would get votes necessary to pass the bill from some of the Democrats.

When the Democrats didn't show up, the Republicans grew irate.

Assembly Speaker, G. Clifford Thomas told newsmen he could have sent state police into Meyner's office to get the Democrats, but decided against it.

The Republicans plan to make the school aid bills the first item of business on Monday.

If the Democrats stay away from Monday's session, Thomas said he "may use the machinery that is available to me, arrest them. I would serve a subpoena on them with state troopers."

Meyner told a news conference he considered his office a sanctuary from the power of the Legislature. He indicated that the Democratic lawmakers would be immune from arrest in his office.

Sportsmen Urged To Attend Hearings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife today urged sportsmen to attend forthcoming district and state-wide fish and game hearings.

Fish and game hearings in the past have been held separately—fish hearings in winter and game hearings in late summer. It was felt combined hearings would save considerable time and money for farmer and sportsmen representatives.

Dates of the district hearings are:

District 2, June 15, Findlay; District 3, June 20, Akron; District 4, June 17, Cambridge; District 5, June 16, Chillicothe; District 6, June 17, Xenia.

The state hearing will be held July 22 at Columbus in the state office building.

Man Buys Lot, Finds $50,000 School On It

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—L. J. Meisel, attorney and City Council member, says the Cabell County School Board can have its property back if someone will pay him his $85.

He had bid that amount at tax sale on a lot, sight unseen.

He discovered later that the choice lot had a $50,000 public school building on it, the most modern in the county.

The lot, in some manner, had remained on the tax books after the school was built, and had been listed as tax-delinquent.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

DEAR FRIENDS AND PARENTS:

On Saturday, June 5, 1954 between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m., we will call on you at your homes and see some of you on the downtown streets to ask you to support our JUNIOR BASEBALL LEAGUE'S TAG DAY PROGRAM.

All money donated by you goes into a fund to supply us with play equipment, insurance and repair to playing fields. Our sponsors have been kind enough to donate their share, but it will not cover all expenses necessary to make our project a success.

There are over 350 of us youngsters going to get to play baseball. Our ages are from 7 1/2 years to 17 years. At first it did not look like we were going to play, but with your support of our project on TAG DAY we are sure we will have an opportunity to play. The officials, managers and coaches of our league are giving a great deal of their time in teaching us how to be good Americans as well as baseball players. They want us all to be on some team. Our leagues are a project of the Charles H. Carey Post No. 56, American Legion, Salem — but the league officials, managers and coaches are persons interested in helping us youngsters. We have 16 little league teams, four pony league teams and two junior league teams in our baseball league.

All of us kids, as well as the officials, managers and coaches of our league wish to thank you for your support in the past and we all hope you will help us again. Whatever you give will be appreciated by all of us.

Sincerely yours,

350 YOUNGSTERS WHO WILL BE ABLE TO PLAY BASEBALL BECAUSE OF OUR SPONSORS AND YOUR SUPPORT

Spies Lurk Everywhere In Geneva During Conference

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — Always a city famed for international intrigue and just plain spying, Geneva today has a cloak and dagger atmosphere rivaled by few cities in modern times.

The reasons are obvious: The Swiss are neutral and intend to remain that way. Hence, they are interested in just about everything and everybody.

The Russians are here by the scores and one can be sure their intelligence and counterintelligence Corps are well represented. Late arrivals in the arena of international politics, the Red Chinese and the Koreans obviously have their gumshoe squads. And the fact that Geneva has plenty of anti-Communist Chinese and anti-Communist Koreans is making them all ultra careful.

The British and French are quieter with their spying and counterspying but this does not mean they are less effective. The Americans can certainly be said to have their cloaks, if not their daggers, hanging in the dark halls of this city by the bright blue lake.

Strange things are happening and there is whisper behind the spotted palm of every hotel lobby.

A high-placed delegate went to see another one. They had confidential matters to discuss. The man who made the call was surprised when he saw five men in the room—the man he'd come to see, and four others.

"It's all right," said the host.

"We can talk in freedom." As the caller opened his discussion, each of the four unidentified men in the room marched to a corner, unfolded a newspaper and began reading aloud. This presumably would foul up any recording device.

When the two principals finished, shook hands and said goodbye the four men folded their newspapers and walked quietly away.

Another delegation here is armed with antilisting machines. These make a queer noise when turned on and are said to guarantee that the conversation in the room can not be heard.

There is another delegation that holds most of its private conversations in bathrooms—with the water running—which is said to be a sure way of making certain your conversation is neither listened to nor recorded.

A plumber who had to call at Chou En-Lai's villa to make a minor repair was met at the door by security guards, was accompanied to the room by them and his every motion was watched by two Chinese who stood only a yard away.

Nearly everyone assumes that someone is reading all the mail coming into and going out of Geneva. For this reason the weather is a great subject of communication.

One wife wrote back to her delegate husband, "thanks for your letters. Geneva's weather must be wonderful, but isn't there anything else of interest there?"

The press center has been dubbed the "House of Rumors." You can start one here and 15 minutes later you can hear it repeated to you at a hotel bar.

With so many delegations in town as the delegates to the conference, and at least a dozen others having representatives as unofficial "observers", keeping them straight becomes difficult.

One visitor swears he has made several telephone calls and when asked what delegation he represents, invariably replies: "I'm Mr. X."

FILES EXAMINED — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, right, and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, look through the large cardboard box of files of work done by Pvt. G. David Schine for the Senate Investigating Subcommittee. Senator McCarthy refused to turn over to the subcommittee the complete files on which Schine worked because they contain names of confidential informants.

So and so from the state of chaos." He says the telephone operator has just as invariably replied: "Just a moment I'll put you through."

Tax Collection In Ohio Down From '53

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's excise tax collections so far this year on cigarettes, malt beverage and wine show a decided dip from last year's take.

Ohio Department of Taxation figures through the month of May show more than a 13 per cent drop in the collections on wine—from $718,263 in 1953 to $621,586 so far this year. A plunge of more than four per cent was shown in the tax collections on cigarettes—which dropped from $8,113,476 for the same period in 1953 to $7,772,225. The tax on malt beverage dipped .74 per cent, from $7,689,937 to $7,632,670.

The tax thus far on 3.2 per cent beer shows an increase. For the same period last year the collections amounted to $730,436 compared with $742,162 in 1954.

The tax take from Ohio race tracks through May 29 was $909,534.

Indians Proved To Be Poker-Faced All Over

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The tales about stoic Indians are not just legend. The vanishing American is actually poker-faced all over.

"It's an amazing thing, but it's apparently true," said Dr. H. H. Donahue, state mental health director who has conducted lie detector tests on several Indians.

The full-bloods defy all theories of emotional and galvanic response on which the polygraph (lie detector) is based.

"Every Indian tested here has shown nil," said the veteran psychiatrist. "We get no results at all. The graph just runs along with no quivers at all. We think it's because of their very stoic nature."

Dr. Donahue said mixed-bloods do have definite reactions.

Boy Under Yule Tree Sucks In More Than Air

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Little Johnny Fellet's trouble began under the Christmas tree five months ago when he grabbed an apple from his sister Kathy.

Kathy grabbed it back. Johnny sucked in his breath to protest, and choked. His father patted him on the back and out popped an apple seed.

But the 10-month-old youngster couldn't stop wheezing. He developed allergies and pneumonia. His condition grew worse.

Yesterday doctors slipped a tube with a light on it into Johnny's lungs. They removed a small, cone-shaped Christmas tree ornament. Now Johnny feels fine.

Horses Used To Cars, Afraid Of Buggy

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. William H. Fursman's buggy was stolen, then recovered here. To police she explained yesterday why she purchased the vehicle:

"We bought the buggy for our horses, but they are scared to death of it; they're used to cars and they won't go near the buggy."

Spanish conquistadors under Hernando Cortez explored most Mexico and what is now the U. S. Southwest nearly a century before the Pilgrims landed in New England.

Away on vacation? Heck, no! You can find 94% of the people at home at any time during June, July and August*—still shopping at a fast rate. Still reading newspapers. Still buying the things they read about!

As the famous retailer Bernard Gimbel said recently: "There is no excuse for reduced sales effort. The business is there if we go after it—all summer long."

SUMMER MONTHS get their full share of year's business — and more besides! 25.3%. (Source: Dept. of Commerce)

Sales are as hot as the weather!

People spend more money on merchandise in June, July and August than in most other months — as the chart shows.

Are you taking advantage of this?

Business leaders are capitalizing on this!

Mr. Gimbel says: "We're going after summer business because we feel that there are too many valleys between the peaks that have no reason to be there."

And he adds that summer business is "the most neglected, the most under-promoted area in our whole merchandising system."

Are you planning special summer promotion?

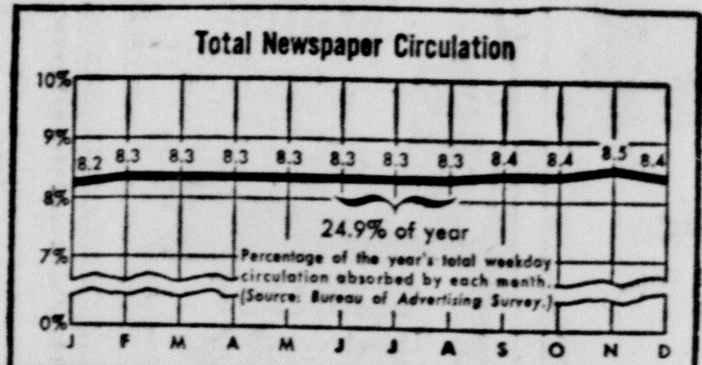

And they're using newspapers!

They know there's no summer replacement for the newspaper. People buy and read newspapers avidly all summer long!

Yanks Find Starting Family Life In Britain Difficult

By DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON (AP)—A touching drama of American family life trying to find a comfortable and happy place in a land strange and at times even a bit hostile is being enacted today throughout England.

It's a struggle that sometimes is sad, sometimes inspiring, and often comical — involving more than 40,000 military men and some followed their menfolk to this island.

In some ways, the problems of the 52,000 are more acute than showing a frosty, tweedy Englishman and his wife glaring at a startled American airman, and saying:

"What are YOU doing back here?"

Officially, the British and Americans are working together in a hard-fought determination to "get along." There's a sort of "We're going to like you, dammit, even if it kills us" air about the whole thing.

They are trying to bridge the gap with dances, social clubs, teas, garden parties, sports contests, tours, and "Let's open our home to each other" drives.

As a result, many Americans are finding life exciting and satisfactory in Britain — so much so some are asking for an extension of service. They have made warm friends, entered into the British social life and managed to overlook a good many of the irritants.

Others have found the going more difficult. They are unable to adjust to the British way of life. They are dissatisfied with houses that have outmoded kitchens and no central heating. They can't understand the British aloofness and deep sense of privacy. Some complain of rent gouging and living costs.

An American sergeant said: "I guess it's no different with the British than it would be with us if the British swarmed in on one of our towns back home. There'd be the same problems."

On the British side, the English frequently resent the efforts of Americans to be "liked" and their generosity oftentimes is mistaken as condescension or interpreted as having an ulterior motive.

In one case, a young American housewife moved into a neighborhood and liked the looks of the British housewife next door. She baked a cake and a batch of cookies and took them over as a gesture of neighborliness. But she was shocked to tears to find her gesture regarded coldly and with suspicion.

In another, an American airman encouraged his young son to open a front-yard lemonade stand near one of Britain's historic sites. It was good American enterprise — but it irritated the British.

Also, the British see Americans taking over homes badly "needed" by British families themselves, because the Americans are able and willing to pay rents which the British can't afford.

To the Americans the houses usually are no bargain. They pay rents two or three times what a Briton would pay. By their standards, the plumbing is poor and the kitchen equipment is enough to make a good housewife shudder. In the cold months, a gas and electricity bill of $100 a month isn't uncommon.

Even if it means financial sacrifices, most Americans want their families with them, and they are willing to go to almost any limit to do it.

Weather Forces Light Plane Down Twice

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—A light four-passenger plane was forced down twice near Rockbridge Thursday by rough weather.

Sheriff's Deputy Spurgeon Metler, investigating the double mishap, reported passenger — owner, Emil J. Cote, Broward, Fla., suffered two broken vertebrae. He said the pilot, Donald P. O'Donnell, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was unhurt.

Metler said the two men left Huntington, W. Va., in clear weather this morning, en route from Ft. Lauderdale to Canada.

They found the going rough in southern Ohio, he said, and, attempting to find the airport in Lancaster, Ohio, landed in a corn field near Ohio 796.

In clearing weather, they attempted to take off, Metler said, but were forced down again near the farm of Earl Brown a half-mile west of Ohio 33 near Rockbridge.

Eight Ohioans Deny Charges Of Contempt

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Pleas of innocent were entered today for eight persons charged with contempt after they refused to answer questions from the Ohio Un-American Activities Commission.

Those charged are Karl Carigan, Anna Glausser, Lloyd Arnold, Benedict Gaudy, George Edward Lyons and Thelma Furry, all of Akron, Myron W. Thomas of Cuyahoga Falls, and Amos Murphy of Barberton.

Courting Stick

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If your teen-age daughter is hogging the telephone in long talks with her boy friends, why not solve the problem by buying her a courting stick?

The time seems ripe for a revival of this communication tool of lovers, popular in old New England.

An antiquarian friend of mine, doing research on old marriage customs for the 50th anniversary of the Fuller Brush Co., which distributes cosmetics and brushes, said:

"Television has made the courting stick eminently practical again in the average American home."

What is a courting stick? Well, in colonial times it was a hollow wooden tube 6 to 8 feet long. Sternly chaperoned lovers could sit on opposite sides of big fireplaces and whisper romantic nonsense back and forth, unheard by other members of the family.

While the courting stick, the forerunner of Alexander Graham Bell's invention, would seem to fit well in the television age, another old colonial courting custom now has few firm friends left at all, and why, I don't know.

That is the practice of bundling. This was an old New England boys-meets-girl formula designed to save papa's firewood bill.

The fully clad lovers, covered by quilts and separated by a wooden partition, lay propped up side by side in a bed as they discussed the local corn crop, ethics, and other interesting topics, shivering as the fire sank lower.

Some liturgical scholars claim that this depressing form of cold weather courtship is directly responsible for the settlement of the West, the discovery of gold in California, and the invention of air conditioning. Others say it only resulted in the spread of marriage and the common cold.

Whatever the merit of these conflicting claims and accusations, the arrival of the motor car and the movies and the growth of skiing as a sport gradually turned New Englanders away from home bundling.

Courtship and marriage this June month of weddings is far easier in many ways than it was in colonial times.

In Maryland, for example, I understand that bachelors, light wines and billiard tables are no longer bracketed together for tax purposes to pay the cost of the war against the French and Indians, as they were in 1756.

Girls, even those rascally girls who lead a man on with false promises of wealth, have it easier today. Men who had been "shabbed"—their word for jilted—in colonial days didn't hesitate to bring a breach of promise suit.

A male fortune hunter then was known as a "journeyman gentleman." Both men and women took the view that a mate with money wasn't necessary a lifelong handicap.

A pioneer matrimonial advertiser by a sensitive journeyman gentleman in the Boston Evening Post of Feb. 23, 1759, listed these endearing demands:

"Any young lady between the age of 18 and 23, middling stature, regular features and a lively brisk eye. Of good morals, possessed of 3 or 400 pounds."

In those sterner masculine times, a healthy husband might well outlive two or three successive hard-working wives. A girl unmarried at 25 was regarded as a spinster.

Yet there somehow were still so many widows around that a singular law prevailed from New England to South Carolina. It provided that a man taking a widow as his wife was responsible for her former husband's debts unless she married him on the king's highway clad in her chemise.

This was roughly equivalent to saying an eager widow couldn't win a thrifty man unless she was willing to marry him in public view in Times Square wearing only a petticoat.

Naturally it is easy to see why this law flopped. Even in those days they already had enough traffic jams.

East Goshen

Pictures of Easter services at the East Goshen Church were shown by Virgil Malmbsberry after the prayer service Thursday evening.

Dedication of babies and small children will be held June 27.

The condition of Mrs. Edith Hurford, who fractured her hip in a fall several weeks ago, is reported satisfactory.

Mrs. Birdie Cherry of Hartsville, Mrs. Mabel Lore, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lewis of Alliance called on Mrs. Mary Malmbsberry and Mrs. Mary Myers Sunday.

Margaret Myers of Canfield visited her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Myers.

Rev. Howard Moore, pastor of the East Goshen Church preached a sermon Sunday for the young people of the church who graduated from Goshen High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilms and family visited the Pittsburgh Zoo Monday.

The 4-H Cheery Sisters met at the home of Janet and Dorothy Miller Thursday. A demonstration was given on french seams by Linda Calvin. The club is taking cooking and sewing as their projects.

Trails of ionized air left by tiny meteors entering our atmosphere have been found to reflect radio waves, promising to double or triple the channels available for communication over thousand-mile distances.

Youngstown College To Graduate 377

YOUNGSTOWN — Governor Frank J. Lausche will be the speaker at the 32nd annual commencement of Youngstown College to-night in Stambaugh Auditorium when 377 men and women will receive degrees and titles.

Governor Lausche will speak on the subject, "Do Not Despair of the Future."

Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of the college, will confer 14 titles of associate in business administration, 85 degrees of bachelor of science in business administration, 16 bachelor of music degrees, 109 degrees of bachelor of science in education, 22 bachelor of science degrees, 40 bachelor of engineering degrees, and 18 bachelor of laws degrees.

The program will open with a musical prelude presented by the Dana School of Music Symphony Orchestra.

The germanium leaf, about two ten-thousandths of an inch thick, can be made into an oscillator that is attached to lifeboats. When in contact with sea water, the tiny device manufactures the radio signals to guide the rescue plane directly to persons in distress.
